

Super Science Seminars to highlight 2004 INEEL Scholastic Tournament State Championships

A new event will highlight the 2004 INEEL Scholastic Tournament State Championships to be held March 30 at the Boise Centre on the Grove.

Debbie Newby, a scientist at the INEEL and a graduate of Capital High School, will talk to students about her research in DNA and give hands-on-experience reading DNA samples. David Bruemmer, a computer scientist graduate and a native of Scotland, will conduct a robotic demonstration and show how INEEL robots are changing the way we live.

The Super Science Seminars will run concurrently beginning at 9 a.m. for one hour and then repeat at 10 a.m., allowing students to attend both sessions. Although the event will allow students from the 20 teams attending the state tournament to attend the seminars, Scholastic Tournament students from throughout the state are also invited.

'04 Sponsors

Essential to the growth and continuity of the INEEL Scholastic Tournament are the sponsors that help support the competition each year. Washington Group International has agreed to sponsor this year's t-shirts that will be given to each student and coach attending their respective regional tournament.

The Micron Technology Foundation will again be a co-sponsor of the state tournament luncheon on March 30. Other sponsors are: CH2MHill, Westmark, Idaho Power and Monsanto.

Don't Forget to Practice

Many schools are making good use of the 18 sets of practice questions prepared for the 2003-2004 season. If you're interested in getting your team better prepared for the upcoming regional tournament, contact us today and we'll e-mail from one to 18 question sets directly to you. Contact Kirk Sheppard at ineelst@ida.net or call toll-free 1-888-523-6310. Please allow three days for electronic delivery and two weeks for hard-copy delivery.

North Regional building change at U of I

Teams competing in the North Regional tournament should note that the building location has changed this year to the Student Commons Building. A map indicating the location of the Student Commons Building on the U of I campus will be sent after registration deadline.

Feb. 6, Deadline for Registration

The deadline for registering for the 2004 regional tournaments of the INEEL Scholastic Tournament is Feb. 6. Please take time today to fill out the registration on the other side or go online at <http://education.inel.gov/scholastic-tournament/registration.asp>

At this printing, 52 teams have registered to compete in this year's competition. To confirm your team's participation, please go to <http://education.inel.gov/scholastic-tournament/class.asp>
